REPORT ON THE 1901 CENSUS OF GRENADA.

---

GRENADA,

19th August, 1901.

Sir,—I have the honour to submit the tabulated results of the Census of 1901 as shown by the 45 abstracts accompanying this report.

The Census includes all persons resident in Grenada and its dependencies on the night of Friday the 7th April. The dependencies comprise Carriacou and certain islets only two of which, Isle de Rhonde and Petit Martinique are returned as being inhabited. Isle de Rhonde is attached to the district of St. Patrick and Petit Martinique to Carriacou.

THE POPULATION OF THE COLONY.

The population of the Colony was found to amount to 63,438 of whom 56,941 were returned as being in Grenada and 6,497 in Carriacou.

The population at the previous Census, that of 1891, was 53,209: it has therefore increased during the intercensal period by 10,229 or at the rate of 19.22 per cent.

Between the year 1881 and 1891 the population increased at the exceptionally high rate of 25.48 per cent. representing an actual increase of 10,806.

The present increase is 557 less and at a lower rate, but is both greater and at a higher rate than the increase shown by any other previous Census.

The estimate of the Registrar General based on a calculation of the excess of births over deaths to the 7th April 1901, shows an addition of 12,804 to the population as ascertained at the Census of 1891. The present Census however shows an addition of only 10,229. The Colony has therefore lost 2,575 of its natural increase, its population being 63,438 instead of 66,013.

At the previous Census the enumerated was found to exceed the estimated increase by 1,401 that is to say, not only was the natural increment retained but immigration also added to the population 1,401 persons.

This disappointing result indicates both that there has been very little immigration into the Colony during the past decade, and also that there has been extensive emigration.

The other possible theories are either inaccuracy in the recording of births and deaths, or errors in the taking of the Census. As to the first increased accuracy in the working of the system of registration of births and deaths is more probable than the contrary: and as to the second, the evidence of the figures quoted above in support of the theory of emigration and diminished immigration is corroborated by the following circumstances.

In 1891 it was found that the strangers resident in the Colony numbered 6,466 or 1,588 more than at the Census of 1881. In 1901 they numbered 5,552, a decrease of 914. Allowing for an average annual death rate among them of 22 in a thousand during the past decade it will appear that they have been recruited by only about 500 immigrants.

The circumstance corroborative of extensive emigration is the increased disproportion between females and males, emigration being chiefly from among the males. In 1891 to every 100 males there were 108.4 females. In 1901 there are 111.5 females to 100 males. At the Census of 1881 when it was found that owing to emigration the enumerated population was 1,104 less than the estimated, the proportion was 111.2 females to 100 males.

The circumstances that make for emigration are low wages, (when compared with wages obtainable in the neighbouring Colony of Trinidad and in South and Central America) increasing difficulty in getting land to rent for making gardens, and the enhanced value of land. It has also been stimulated by emigration agents, though their activity was checked by legislation in 1899.

In the case of Carriacou there is also increasing poverty due to a steady decrease in the value of cotton, their principal product.

As to immigration a serious check has been given to it by the Infirm Paupers and Immigrants Regulation Ordinance of 1896 and that of 1897, the former becoming law on the 22nd February 1896 and the latter repealing it, but substantially re-enacting its provisions. These Ordinances have impeded the free immigration into the Colony of able bodied labourers.

DENSITY OF THE POPULATION.

The population has attained a density of 477 persons to the square mile. For the purpose of comparison it may be mentioned that the density of the population of England and Wales in the year 1891 was 500 to the square mile.

The following table will show the increasing density of the population since 1861 and the corresponding decrease in the amount of land available for each person—

Date of Census.	Number of persons to each square mile.	Number of acres to each person.
1861	240	2.69
1871	283	2.26
1881	319	2.01
1891	400	1.60
1901	477	1.34

NUMBER OF FAMILIES AND OF HOUSES.

There are in the Colony 13,469 families, and these families inhabit 11,996 houses. The average family contains nearly five persons including servants. Every inhabited house might have a little more than seven acres of land attached to it.

The increase in the number of families and of houses will be shown by this table.

Year.	Number of families.	Increase of families.	Number of inhabited houses.	Increase in number of houses.
1891	10848	1132	10229	1715
1901	13469	2621	11996	1767

Wooden houses greatly outnumber houses of any other class. They number 8925 while the stone houses are returned at 326 and the "mixed" at 928. About two thirds of the stone houses in the Colony are situated in the town of St. George.

It will appear from the following table that nine persons were returned as houseless, 131 as being on shipboard on the Census night, and 57 as being in prison. The number of persons in prison at the previous Census was 83, and the number in charitable institutions 245. There is therefore a decrease of 26 in the former and an increase of 124 in the latter.

THE PARISHES.

The population of the various parishes has increased at varying rates, and there has been a change in the order of precedence. Hitherto the parish and town of St. George have stood first with a united population at the Census of 1891 of 13,735 as against a population of 11,512 for St. Andrew's with its town, Grenville. This year the position has been reversed. St. Andrew's now stands first with a population of 15,733 and St. George's (Town and Parish) comes next with 15,674.

St. Mark's as hitherto has the smallest population 3,443.

St. David's has added 1257 to its population which has increased at the rate of 28.94 per cent, a higher rate than that of any other Parish.

The population of Carriacou is 6,497 representing a gain of only 466 during the past ten years; for at the Census of 1891 its population was found to be 6,031. The rate of increase is only 7.72 per cent. In respect of both increase and rate of increase Carriacou compares unfavourably with all the other districts. St. John's, which in 1891 had a population of 6,204, the nearest in numbers to that of Carriacou, has of all the Grenada districts increased at the lowest rate, but has yet added 996 to its population. St. Mark's which in 1891 had a population of 2,902, not equal to one half of the then population of Carriacou, has added 541, increasing at the rate of 18.64 per cent.

The explanation is that there has been a considerable amount of emigration from Carriacou. This is shown clearly by the difference between the enumerated and the natural increase, the former being 466 while the natural increase is 1,587. The difference between them, 1,121, represents the emigration from Carriacou. It is also indicated by the unusually large excess of females over males. There are 1,069 females more than males in Carriacou, in other words in every hundred persons 42 are males and 58 females.

By reference to Table 13 it will also be seen that while the proportion of the sexes in Carriacou is normal up to the age of 14 years, from 15 (the age at which emigration might be supposed to begin) the females are largely in excess of the males till about the age of 50 when the normal condition is resumed. In its present condition Carriacou fails to provide an adequate subsistence for its inhabitants, since many of them are forced into temporary or permanent emigration. The matter is however engaging the attention of the Government and remedial measures are being taken which it is hoped will be successful.

The following table will show at a glance the present population of each Parish, the increase during the past ten years and the rate of increase. It will be noted that the Parishes of St. George and St. Andrew together contain nearly one half of the total population of the Colony:—

Parish.	Population.	Increase.	Rate of Increase.
St. Andrew's ... ..	15,733	3,221	25.74
St. George's ... ..	15,674	1,939	14.11

St. David's ... ..	5,600	1,257	28.94
St. Mark's ... ..	3,443	541	18.64

The number of inhabitants on both Isle de Rhonde and Petit Martinique has increased considerably. In table 7 Isles de Rhonde, De Caille and Large are grouped together, but according to the enumerator's memorandum book there are no inhabitants on the two latter. The increase in the population of the two islets is shown in the following table:—

Island.	Population in 1891.	Population in 1901.	Increase.	Increase per cent.
Isle de Rhonde ...	52	89	37	71.1
Petit Martinique ...	193	319	126	65.2

The loss to the population of the Parishes by emigration is shown by the following table, in which the enumerated population is compared with the estimated population arrived at by a calculation of the excess of births over deaths. In St. Andrew's and St. David's the enumerated population is in excess of the estimated. This is indicated by the plus sign.

Parish.	Enumerated population.	Estimated population.	Excess of estimated population over enumerated.
St. George ...	15,674	16,200	526
St. John ...	7,200	7,772	572

Carriacou ...	6,497	7,618	1,121
Colony ...	63,438	66,013	2,575

The increase in the density of the population in the different Parishes is shown by the following table:—

THE TOWNS.

There is apparently no danger in this Colony of the rural districts becoming depopulated in favour of the urban, as will appear from the following table showing the population of the towns in 1891 and 1901 and the gain or loss of population in each :—

Town.	Population in 1891.	Population in 1901.	Increase or decrease.
St. George's ...	4919	5188	269
Charlotte Town ...	2225	2455	230
Victoria ..	1524	1704	180
Grenville ...	1679	1414	—265
Sauteurs ...	1052	1139	87
Hillsboro' ...	344	302	—42
			Total Increase
Total ...	11743	12202	459

The rural population was 41,466 in 1891 and 51,236 in 1901. It therefore increased at the rate of 23.25 per cent, while the urban population has increased at the very moderate rate of 3.90 per cent.

Two main causes contribute to produce this effect. First the ownership of land which keeps the peasants and other classes of the population settled in the country districts; and secondly the tendency to avoid living in the areas liable to the payment of municipal rates and taxes. It is understood that this latter tendency had a very marked effect on the population of Grenville from the time of the construction of the Grenville water works.

In the Town of St. George's the addition to the population has been at the rate of only 5.46 per cent in spite of the undoubted improvements in the town; many old buildings having been repaired or rebuilt and some new buildings erected during the intercensal period. Most of these are being used not as residential but as business premises. The towns of the Colony are inhabited by 12,202 persons.

THE SEXES.

Of the population of the Colony 29,986 are males and 33,452 females, the females exceeding the males by 3,466. There are therefore 1,115 females to every 1000 males.

The proportion of females to males is the largest since the Census of 1861, the proportion at the previous Census being 1084 females to 1000 males. This is no doubt due to emigration of the males. The estimate of the Registrar General to the 7th April last shows 32,034 males and 33,979 females. While therefore the males have lost 2,048 by emigration, the females have lost only 527. The disproportion of the sexes is greater in Carriacou than in other district. Out of every 1000 persons 582 are females. The Town of St. George's comes next, with 566 females to 434 males.

CIVIL CONDITION.

The number of married persons in the colony is 14,318 or 22.5 of the whole population. The husbands number 6,909 and the wives 7,409. The married females exceed the married males by 500 which number presumably represents the husbands absent from the colony. The excess of wives over husbands is greatest in Carriacou and lowest in the Town of St. George where it is only 3.

With respect to persons of a marriageable age there are 13,017 males of 20 years and upwards, and of these 6,898 or 52.9 per cent are married. There are 10 married males under 20 years of age. The females over 15 years and upwards number 19,809 and of these 7,408 or 37.3 per cent are married. There is one married female under 15 years. The largest number of married persons are between the ages of 40 and 49 years, there being 1,690 husbands and 1,529 wives, representing 74.7 and 58.6 per cent respectively of the persons returned as living within that age.

The proportion of married persons in each district range from 25.7 per cent in St. David to 17.6 per cent in the Town of St. George.

Between 1881 and 1891 the number of married persons increased by 2,297 the increase in the population during the same period being 10,806. During the last intercensal period the population increased by 10,229 or 19.22 per cent while the number of the married increased by 3,763 or 35.5 per cent, outstripping the rate of increase in the population by 14.3. This is satisfactory indicating as it does a long interval of prosperity and an improved moral tone.

The following table will show that for the first time the legitimate births exceed the illegitimate:—

The widowers are 551 in number and the widows 1,937; there being 351 of the latter to 100 of the former.

In the 1891 Census they stood in the ratio of 100 to 313. The highest proportion of widowed persons is in the Town of St. George and Carriacou and the lowest in St. Patrick's. Dealing next with the unmarried portion of the population of the age of 15 years and upwards the number of females to every 100 males is shown in the table given below. Of unmarried persons the highest proportion is in the town of St. George and the lowest in St. David's. The unmarried form 73.5 per cent of the whole population.

RELIGION.

Of a total population of 63,438 persons 63,183 or 99.6 per cent are members of one or other of the Christian bodies. Of the remaining 255 persons 144 are Non-Christian and 111 not described. The Roman Catholics, the Anglicans the Wesleyans and the Presbyterians represent respectively 57.4, 35.4, 5.6 and .9 per cent of the whole population. The other Christian denominations represented are Seventh-Day Adventists, Plymouth Brethren, Moravians, Lutherans, Congregationalists and Baptists.

Of the Non-Christians the Hindoos claim 93 and the Mahommedans 43. There are 2 Theosophists, 2 Freethinkers and 2 Brahmins.

The number of each denomination is given in the following table, as well as the increase per cent of each :—

Denomination.	Males.	Females.	Total.	Number of females to 100 males.	Increase per cent.
Church of Rome ...	16926	19511	36437	115	24.2

	29986	33452	63438	111	- sign indicate a decrease

The members of the Anglican Church increased during the 1881-1891 decade by 31.7 per cent. Had the same rate been preserved the number of its adherents at the Census of 1901 would have been 25,380, instead of 22,477. The Roman Catholics increased at the rate of 1.5 per cent faster than during the decennial period ending 1891.

The Roman Catholics now constitute a larger proportion of the population than at any Census since that of 1861. In 1881 out of every 1000 persons 563 were Roman Catholics: in 1891 the proportion was reduced to 551, and in 1901 it has risen to 574.

The Protestant bodies contain 422 in a thousand of the inhabitants.

At the Census of 1891 the proportion of Anglicans in 1000 persons was 362, in 1901 it is 354.

The proportion of Wesleyans has fallen from 64 to 57.

The Presbyterians remain stationary, and as at the previous Census claim 9 out of every 1000 persons. The Protestants have therefore relatively decreased. The high rate of increase among Protestant bodies during the 1881-1891 intercensal period was probably chiefly due to Protestant immigration from Barbados and St.

Vincent. This immigration having practically ceased, the relative increase of Protestants has been checked.

AGES.

There are under the age of one year 1,141 males and 1,127 females. The total number of children under the age of five years is 10,121 of whom 5,123 are males and 4,998 females. The children from 5 to 15 years of age number 17,359; of these 8,714 are males and 8,645 females. Between the ages of 15 and 69 years there are 15,558 males and 18,930 females. From Table 20 it will be seen that there were returned as living on the 7th April last 1,464 persons 70 years of age and upwards, being 2.3 per cent of the whole population.

The Septuagenarians numbered 367 males and 507 females.

The Octogenarians           ,,       176   ,,       273   ,,

The Nonagenarians         ,,       38   ,,       84   ,,

The Centenarians           ,,       5   ,,       14   ,,

Those over 100 years of age number 11 as against 6 at the last Census, the oldest being 110 years.

THE OCCUPATIONS.

According to the Census out of every 1,000 persons 14 are professional men or in the public service, 56 engaged in Commerce, 458 in agricultural pursuits, 125 in industrial, 316 in domestic and 29 unoccupied. The unoccupied class does not consist chiefly of persons living on private means, but of females living with parents or on charity. The following table will show the proportions at the previous Census:—

Year.	Professional.	Commercial.	Agricultural.	Industrial.	Domestic.	Unoccupied.
1891	13	59	466	126	325	11
1901	14	56	458	127	316	29

It will be seen from table 26 that there has been a reduction in the number of public officers and of policemen, this being due to the policy of retrenchment adopted a few years ago. There has been a remarkable increase in the number of persons returned as proprietors of plantations. There are 1,197 male and 473 female proprietors as against 263 male and 119 female proprietors in 1891, a total increase of 1,288.

It seems probable however that many agricultural labourers who owned small lots of land were returned in 1891 as labourers and in 1901 as proprietors.

A comparison of the figures for 1891 and 1901 showing the number of agricultural labourers will bear out this theory.

Year.	Proprietors.		Agricultural labourers.
	M.	F.	M.	F.
1891	263	119	7489	6449
1901	1197	473	7204	7244

It will be noticed that while there has been an increase in the number of proprietors there has been a decrease of 285 in the number of male agricultural labourers and an increase of 795 in the number of female labourers. The cocoa crop of the island has increased since 1891 and there is no reason for supposing that owners of land employ less labour than hitherto. A real decrease in the number of male agricultural labourers is therefore improbable. Further, the female labourers having increased, it would be difficult to explain the decrease in the males or any other theory than that before suggested.

But even, after allowance has been made for these considerations it still seems probable that there has been an increase in the number of persons owning land.

Since the previous Census a few new occupations have been added to the list. Among these are handkerchief painter, tanner, hammock maker and carriage trimmer.

The children in the colony number 27,432 as against 21,789 in 1891 and form 43.25 per cent of the population. Of this number 13,632 are returned as attending school and 13,800 as not attending school. If we take five years as the age at which children ought to begin to attend school we find that there are 3,679 children who ought to be at school, but are not.

In 1891 out of every 1,000 there were 570 who did not attend school. In 1901 the proportion has been reduced to 503.

The following table will show this and also the proportion per thousand of children attending Government, Assisted and Private Schools in 1891 and 1901.

Year.	Number per 1000 attending Government Schools.	Number per 1000 attending Assisted Schools.	Number per 1000 attending Private Schools.	Number per 1000 not attending School.
1891	81	258	91	570
1901	92	313	92	503

From this table it will be seen that the assisted schools, which are all denominational, have increased at a greater rate than the Government schools, which are undenominational.

THE COOLIES.

The Coolies number 2,262 persons of whom 1,234 are males and 1,028 females. In 1891 they numbered 2,118 and 1,572 in 1881. In 1881 they constituted 37 in every one thousand of the population, in 1891 the proportion had increased to 40 in 1,000 and in the present census it has fallen to 36 in 1,000. Thus it will be seen that there has been an actual increase but a relative decrease in their numbers. One of the reasons for this relative decrease is that there has been no state aided emigration of coolies into Grenada during the past decade.

The following table summarises the foregoing.

Year.	Number of Coolies.	Increase.	Number in 1000 of the population.
1881	1572		37
1891	2118	546	40
1901	2262	144	36

Since the cessation of immigration the number of India-born coolies has, of course, decreased and on the other hand the Grenada-born have increased considerably. At 1891 Census there were 1,013 coolies born in India and 951 in Grenada. Now there are 629 born in India and 1,530 born in Grenada. There is also a certain amount of immigration of coolies into Grenada from other West India Colonies chiefly from St. Vincent. There are 103 coolies in Grenada born in these other Colonies. As has been shown the male coolies contrary to the general rule outnumber the female by 206. It is not easy to suggest the reason for this, since there has been no immigration since 1885, and sufficient time has elapsed to allow the proportion of the sexes to get nearer the normal.

Most of the coolies are Christians but there are among them 42 Mohammedans and 93 Hindoos. Of those who have embraced Christianity 1,580 are Anglicans, 181 Roman Catholics, 289 Presbyterians and 64 Wesleyans. The Presbyterian Church has been displaying activity in making proselytes among the coolies, for in 1881 there were no Presbyterian coolies, in 1891 there were 165, and at the present Census 289.

As hitherto the coolies are chiefly agricultural labourers, but there are many well-to-do small proprietors among them, some shopkeepers and one photographer.

BIRTH-PLACES.

Of the total population of the Colony those born in—

Grenada amount to	...	51,206
Carriacou „	...	6,680
Barbados „	...	1,802
Other West Indies amount to	...	2,441
India „	...	631
United Kingdom „	...	140
Africa „	...	342
Other parts „	...	196

In 1891 the strangers resident in the Colony numbered 6,466. Their numbers have fallen to 5,552 in 1901. Most of the strangers come from other West India Colonies, the greatest proportion of these coming from Barbados. The natives of the United Kingdom have increased from 134 to 140 but have decreased relatively from 2.5 to 2 per thousand of the population.

The coolies have decreased from 1,017 in 1891 to 631, and the Africans from 593 to 342. The natives of the Colony have increased from 878 5 in a thousand of the whole population in 1891 to 913 in 1901.

INFIRMITIES.

The deaf and dumb numbered 61 persons, 30 males and 31 females; the blind 68, of whom 30 were males and 38 females; the imbeciles were 33 males and 31 females; the lunatics 127 of whom 61 were males and 66 females. There were 20 lepers, 13 males and 7 females. It will be borne in mind that this Colony has the custody of the lunatics of the neighbouring colonies of St. Vincent and St. Lucia.

The following table will enable a comparison to be made between the number of infirm in 1891 and in the present year.

Year.	Blind.	Deaf and Dumb.	Imbeciles and Lunatics.	Lepers.	Number of infirm in 1000 persons.
1891	58	88	148	21	5.91
1901	68	61	191	20	5.35

It will be seen from these figures that the infirmities have as a whole relatively decreased. The imbeciles have however increased relatively. In 1891 they were 2.78 in a thousand of the population. This Census shows them to be 3.01 per thousand.

THE OPTIONAL COLUMNS.

The returns under this head are of slight value owing to their incompleteness. Many small proprietors were reluctant to give the necessary information, fearing that it was wanted for the purposes of taxation. In cases of persons owning land jointly with others, and especially when the interest was of a fractional nature, the difficulty of stating how many acres were owned by each individual was avoided by his making no statement whatever. The difficulty of estimating in a given estate the number of acres in cocoa, in spices, in other cultivation, &c., was frequently met in a similar manner. Information as to the number of horses, cattle and sheep was for the first time asked for at this Census. The returns on this point obviously fall very short of the real number in the Colony.

With respect to the land it would seem that the objection to giving information is being overcome, for the returns are much fuller than at the previous Census. It is possible that at the next Census it may be considered possible and proper to place the column in the schedules dealing with property on the same footing as the other columns.

According to the Census returns there are 14,795 acres cultivated with cocoa, 593 $\frac{1}{2}$  with spice, 3,546 $\frac{3}{4}$  in other products, 5,565 $\frac{1}{2}$  in pasture, and 18,635 $\frac{1}{4}$  uncultivated.

After allowing for the area of the roads and of the Crown lands there would be about 32,000 acres not accounted for. The returns show the number of separate holdings of land to amount to 4,060. Of this number 3,118 are under 5 acres in extent, 525 under 10 acres, 183 under 20 acres, 111 under 50 acres, 50 under 100 acres, 23 under 200 acres and 50 of 200 acres and over.

For the purposes of comparison table 44 has been compiled showing the number of holdings and their acreage according to the Tax Rolls for 1900.

It will be seen that the Tax Rolls account for 8,673 holdings with an acreage of 74,474 or 4,613 holdings and 31,338 acres more than are accounted for by the Census returns.

The number of holdings is of course not an accurate measure of the number of proprietors, since one man may and frequently does own more than one holding, and on the other hand two or more persons may jointly own one lot but it at any rate indicates that the number of land owners in the Colony is very large and the land very much subdivided.

There are 7,637 holdings of five acres and under in extent, 829 over five and not exceeding fifty acres, 60 over 50 and not exceeding 100 acres and 147 over 100 acres. It will be noticed that there is a considerable number of small holdings in Carriacou. These are however very small, the majority being about  $\frac{1}{2}$  acre in extent, many  $\frac{1}{4}$  acre and some  $\frac{1}{8}$  acre, mere house spots. On these small holdings are situated the thickly populated villages that contain the inhabitants.

The horses returned number 1,074, the cattle 1,908, the sheep 1,975.

I have the honour to be,

Your obedient servant,

N. JULIAN PATERSON,
Compiler.

His Excellency

SIR ROBERT BAXTER LLEWELYN, K.C.M.G.,

Governor-in-Chief of the Windward Islands.
